Enrollment Shows Large Number of T. C. Co-Eds

Term Officers of Classes Start Work Early

Though there is no Junior class at S. T. C.—due to the lengthening of the three year course to the four year—there is still a large enrollment this semester. According to the records in Miss Vance's Office, there are now 733 men and women registered here. The women still hold the majority. There are about twenty five college women to each man.

A rough estimate of which class is the largest of the three, shows that the sophomore class which entered in August '28 still has the greatest number of students.

Thirty-three degree students have enrolled for the semester to do post-graduate work. Ten students are registered to do special work, while eighteen students re-entered this spring after leave of absence. In the "freshie" class, the students number about eighty.

Though registration is past, the number of students transferring from other colleges to S. T. C. yet forms a steady stream.

The new term officers of the classes have started plans for the spring. All of the classes, except the lower freshmen, have elected their leaders. Heading the student body are the following officers: president, Katherine Sullivan; vice-president, Gola Sanders; secretary, True Gifford; treasurer, Janis Miller.

Class presidents are as follows: May '30, Pauline McDonald; December '31, Muriel Jacobsen; May '32, Ruth Reay; December '32, Dorothy Singer; May '33, Margaret Lemon.

New Freshmen Given Welcoming Lunch

"Welcome New Students," the huge sign which swings back and forth at the south end of the cafeteria, was hung there Tuesday, January 7. On this day the student advisors gave a welcoming luncheon to the new students of the college.

At each table were place-cards decorated with the college emblem. All the newcomers were grouped with their advisors according to the credential for which they are working. As reported by both freshmen and advisors, the affair was a definite success.

During the course of the luncheon, a speech of welcome was given by the student body president, Catherine O'Sullivan. Speeches were also made by Dean Ward, master of ceremonies; Anna Sanbraillo, chairman of the student advisors, and Edith Gene Gaines, who had charge of the function.

Faculty Entertains English Educator

A group of S. T. C. faculty entertained Mrs. Beatrice Elson, of England, with a luncheon at the Whitcomb Hotel last Thursday, January 9.

The visitor is well known in educational circles, since she is the editor of the New Era and is an English representative to the Progressive Education Conference to be held in Geneva, Switzerland.

In the afternoon Mrs. Elson visited the training school and spoke to Mr. Gist's reading class. She was particularly interested in the Frederic Burk training school, since she is an enthusiastic advocate of the individual instruction. She has found it used extensively throughout most of the European countries.

Dr. Roberts, Dean Du Four, Mr. Gist, Mrs. Lund, Miss Burkholder, Miss Anderson, Miss Talbert, Miss Barbour, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Richardson were among those who entertained the distinguished visitor.

S. T. C. Offered New Advantages

Several new and important activities were granted to S. T. C. at the last meeting of the State Board of Education with the presidents of the Teachers Colleges.

S. T. C. was granted the administration and supervision credentials of Elementary and Junior High School grades.

This will draw many more students to our Summer Session and Extension Division courses.

A secondary credential in Music will now be offered by S. T. C. This credential has long been offered by some of the other teachers colleges.

The authority to work out and suggest certain new curricula was also granted to S. T. C. by the State Board. There will now be offered courses which will train teachers for the instruction of backward and mentally deficient children, courses for training teachers of speech defectives, and courses for training teachers of the deafened. S. T. C. is the only teachers college which can train teachers for these special fields.

The Department of Education has now made it possible for a student to get a teaching credential in both the Kindergarten-Primary or Elementary fields. Students may be recommended for these two fields when they have completed an approved joint or combined curriculum.

Buildings To Have Memorial Plates

Two newly designed bronze plates for S. T. C. are now being made. One of the plates will be placed at the entrance to Anderson Hall in memory of Mr. Anderson. The other will be placed in the entrance to the training school on Waller street. This plate will perpetuate the name of Mr. Burke. These plates will be put in their respective positions at the dedication of the new training school.

"Franciscan" Is Honors Winner

An All-American honor rat was awarded the "Franciscan," May, 1929, the yearbook of the San Francisco State Teachers' College, in a recent contest, in which it was entered, conducted by the National Scholastic Press Association of Minneapolis, Minnesota with a score of 910 out of a possible 1000 points.

This annual, which was edited by Geraldine Egleston with Mrs. Ellsworth and Mr. Boulware as editorial and financial advisors respectively, was especially commended for its theme of the evolution of the school teacher. The division and subdivision pages which illustrated this were executed by Jean Burness, the art editor, who graduated in May, 1929, with the editor of the book. Other parts of the book which received favorable comment in the contest were the section dealing with school life, the financial status, the organizations, and the mechanical considerations which include the cover, the photography, the engraving, the typography, the printing, and the paper on which the book was printed. The finances of the book were in the hands of Victorine Murphy, business manager and Ruth Lescinski, advertising manager.

The All-American honor rating which the annual received was the highest of the five possible ratings which were: All-American, first class, second class, third class, and fourth class.

T. C. Candle Light Dinner Successful

Tall red candles lighted at an appointed moment symbolized the spirit of the Candle Light Dinner held last semester, December 18, in the gymnasium.

Catherine O'Sullivan, as master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers and the entertainers. Dr. Roberts spoke to the gathering. About three hundred members and guests of the college watched a novel program.

A dance and song number by members of the Glee Club, showed the performers as West Point Cadets. With partners they danced to the tune of "You're Always in My Arms." The Freshman class was represented by three members in a short skit. Mollie Levin entertained with two readings, one of them was her well-known "At the Theatre." She represented the Senior class. The College Theatre presented a short play. A clever pantomime with True Gifford and Roberta Keily, representing May '30, was put over with much applause on the part of the guests. Between courses twelve girls performed a skating dance. A short play depicting the '70's was given by College Theatre. W. A. A. contributed ten minutes of tumbling activities.

The long tables were decorated with greenery, red candles, and little dolls dressed in red and green. The over hanging lights

Music Credentials Granted S. T. C. by State Board

More Opportunities Offered For College Future

S. T. C. can now issue a secondary credential in music. This right was recently given the college by the State Department of Credentials. Because of this move by the state, it is now possible for this college to train teachers of music for the elementary, junior high and high schools.

Two types of credentials will be issued: the Public School Music Credential and the Instrumental Credential. Students working for either of these certificates will have to complete all the courses listed in the catalog for majors and minors in music. It will be necessary, also, for them to take special advanced courses.

For the Public School Music Credential, a student must complete advanced work in voice, piano, orchestra, instruments, dictation, music reading, vocal ensemble, choral, and instrumentation or orchestration. For the Instrumental Credential, a student must take advanced classes in dictation, piano, instruments of the orchestra, ear training, orchestration, band, and instrument ensemble. There are also a number of courses required in harmony, history of music, and conducting. A series of education courses will have to be completed for either credential.

The fact that the college can now issue this secondary credential should be highly significant for the future, according to the members of the music department. From now on, many talented students who have finished their work at conservatories will come to S. T. C. to complete their courses.

College Theatre Will Present Irish Comedy

Plenty of wit and fun are anticipated for Friday evening, January 31, when the College Theatre presents the three-act comedy "Peg O' My Heart" in the Little Theatre of the Western Women's Building at Sutter and Mason streets.

Peg is a poor Irish girl who lives in New York. The death of her uncle makes her an heiress, besides taking her to an aristocratic aunt in England. The extreme change in environment necessitates a struggle in which Peg wins, not only her way, but also an Englishman.

The tickets, which cost fifty cents, may be obtained from any member of the College Theatre or in the Book Store.

The cast is composed of the following: Novelle Berling, "Peg"; Everett A. Rourke, "Jerry"; Regina Werne, Mrs. Chichester; Peg Martin, Ethel Chichester, the daughter; Waldo King, Alaric Chichester, the son; Jess Iverson, Chris Brant, who is in love with Ethel; Ed. Plutte, Mr. Hawks, solicitor; Henry Barsotte, the shocked butler; and Amy Taubman who is the maid.

Students Entertained At Dinner

A dinner for the freshmen in the Kindergarten-Primary division was held last Thursday night, January 16, at the Studio Tea Room.

Miss Barbour and Louise Miclo planned this affair so that the new students might discuss their problems. Miss Barbour is faculty advisor, and Miss Miclo is student advisor of this group.

Miss Kettlehutt was unable to take up her duties in the office this semester because of an operation for appendicitis. Reports from the office say that she is improving and will be able to resume her work here in a short time.

Graduate Students To Interview Dean

All students graduating in May or at the end of summer school who are interested in placement should interview Dean Du Four as soon after February 1 as possible.

Prospective graduates are urged to do this very soon so that their records can be examined. If this interview is left until the end of the semester, it causes too much hurry and confusion.

After a student has completed the practice teaching requirements, his records are given to Dean Du Four. They are then filed in the dean's office. Scholarship records in academic studies are not filed until later but they are also considered carefully in making recommendations.

When a student applies for a position, Dean Du Four is named the reference for recommendation. His recommendations are in the form of summarizations of the records in his office.

Bay Leaf Staff Board Is Elected

Five associate editors were elected by the Bay Leaf Board of Control to assist Editor Ciwa Griffiths in managing the paper this semester.

The following five associate editors were elected:

Margaret McDougall, Mildred Scott, Madeline Wilbur, Louise Miclo, and Phyllis Fibush. Four associate editors were chosen from last term's Journalism class, and one from a class of two semesters back.

Marjorie Phillips, a former associate editor, Sarah Mason, and Dorothy Doelker are the new members of the Board of Control. They are replacing Jacquelyn Beedle, Eunice Humphries, and Edna Browning. Members of the Board serve for two semesters.

EDITORIAL

THIS NEW YEAR

This is the appropriate time for New Year Resolutions. The first few weeks of each January, dozens of them are made by optimistic human beings who really believe that they will adhere faithfully to the drastic changes. And the biggest resolution is the "I really will this year."

How many of these resolutions are maintained as the year lengthens? Infant mortality takes the majority; the rest die before middle age is reached.

A new year is ahead—a new year that promises many striking changes in S. T. C., a new year that promises work and pleasure for each student. Don't say "I resolve—" or "I'll turn over a new leaf." Say, instead, "I'm doing the best I possibly can; I'm filling my days with study and fun."

THE BAY LEAF AND YOU

The Bay Leaf is student owned, student financed, student directed. The news, the jokes, the columns reflect the college life as seen and reported by the staff of the college paper. We, the editorial staff of the Bay Leaf, offer the first paper of the term to you, the student body of S. T. C.

Big He-Man: I developed these big muscles by working in a boiler factory.

Innocent Young Thing: Oh, you great big wonderful man! And what do you boil?

—Kansas Sour Owl.

"That will be enough out of you," said the doctor as he stitched the patient together.

—Loyola U.

Brisbane writes only for Art's sake.

—Wesleyan Wasp.

Hen: Where did you get those trousers, Ben? They fit you like a glove.

Ben: That's just why I'm kick-about them; they should fit like trousers.

—Lafayette Lyre.

Just had a wonderful chicken dinner—an egg sandwich.

—Drexler.

"Every man in this college could get a job with the city if he wanted it!"

Isn't that rather a sweeping statement?"

—Cajoler.

"Go," said the landlady, "and never dampen my bathmat again."

—Denison Flamingo.

"Well, there's where I draw the line," said the tooth paste advertiser as he sketched in the model's gums.

—Stanford Chaparral.

The gentleman from Chicago visits Boston: "Stranger, can you tell me where is a good place to stop at?"

Citizen of Boston: Just before the "at."

—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Two men were walking along a railroad, one being very deaf. A train was approaching, and, as it rounded the curve, the whistle gave one of those ear-splitting shrieks which seem to reach heaven. "That is the first robin I have heard this spring," said the deaf one.

—Steven's Stone Mill.

Little Emily ran in the house, crying as though her heart would break.

"What's wrong, dear?" asked her mother.

"My dolly—Billy broke it," she sobbed.

"How did he break it dear?"

"I hit him on the head with it."

—Goblin.

Music Teacher (to pupil): Why don't you practice what you screech?

—Brown Jug.

Editor's note: A prize of an all-day sucker is offered to the person who submits the best name for this column.

We wonder if Dr. Arnesen has swallowed a whole "Thesaurus of Synonyms," since he never permits a single word to stand alone.

We expect to see all the men students flocking to Miss Reid's Nature Study class. She is offering advice on "How to Select Corsages for the G. F."

Miss Holmes says she spent five weeks with the feeble-minded last summer. We wonder if she finds very many that stir up psychological remembrances.

We hear that Dr. Rypins apologized for using so many Latin, French, German, Spanish, and Greek terms in his classes. The sad thing is, Dr. Rypins, that you should ever have learned them.

Could it be possible, in this freezing weather, that we heard Miss Kleinecke, in 110, exclaim, "How does one control this gush of heat?"

We feel at home when we see Miss Smith in the "caf" ordering "pie with whip cream, please."

Among other freaks of nature, we find an octopus in our midst. When Mr. Boulware asked a certain young lady to subtract 9 from 18, she replied, all-in-a-fluster, "I-I-I hold up 18 fingers and count down to 9."

Miss Holtz's latest problem: How to make Presbyterians go to the Salvation Army for basketball.

We hope the freshmen don't get a wrong impression of the college when they hear Dr. Biddle talking about moonlit balconies.

:: T. N. T. ::

"If we please you, tell others—if not tell us."

This college, like all others, has its share of dissatisfied students.

Did you ever stop to think that your complaints are useless unless brought before the proper authorities? In order to afford the members of the student body an opportunity of calling to the attention of those in charge—conditions that can be improved, the T. N. T. column was established a number of years ago. There are many instances in the past where improvements have been made and misunderstandings have been overcome as a result of this column.

The next time the location of the pencil sharpeners annoys you, or you have an idea for the betterment of your college, instead of telling your neighbor, who will just groan with you, why not drop your complaint or suggestions in the T. N. T. box at the head of the stairs leading to the post boxes? It may do some good.

All T. N. T. articles must be signed, but the writer's name will be kept in confidence if it is so requested.

BOOK NOOK

MARGARET HAZLEWOOD

ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Erick Marie Remarque

With frequent humor, without venom, but all the more impressive for these reasons, "All Quiet on the Western Front," outlines the horror of war as experienced by a common German soldier at the Western front. It's a story of simple truth, without a trace of nationalism.

The high point of the book has, curiously, nothing to do with fighting, but with a poignant realization on the part of this normal young foot-soldier that his growth with familiar things and scenes, his ambitions, among which he has quietly grown, have been ruthlessly broken away by his experience at the front. He comes short leave home, for which he had been craving. He finds there that truth about war is so utterly beyond the conception of those whom he loved that he cannot even talk to them about it. He must be silent or evasive. He has become apart from his own people. The horrors of the trench and No Man's Land have become his normal milieu.

Retreats, bombardment, food rations, and entertainment are all simply and vividly outlined in what is called the greatest war novel ever written—"All Quiet on the Western Front."

Moronia thinks the postage stamp is a dance. Well, letter.

—Stanford Chaparral.

"LAUGHING BOY"

Oliver La Farge

"Laughing Boy" by Oliver La Farge is a Navajo tale of primitive love. It is an authentic story of man and woman under conditions where the intrusion of a white is of no consequence. To be explicit, "Laughing Boy" is the tale of a Navajo lad "lean, tall, handsome . . . with a new cheap headband and a borrowed silver belt" . . . riding to a dance, "treasuring his hunger because of feasting to come," and Slim-Girl, "dark and slight as a wisp of grass,"—dancing with the happiness of a natural people to whom but few things happen.

The background of this story is Navajo life in a semi-pastoral condition. The entrance of the white element helps in developing the character of Slim-Girl. The failure of our Indian Bureau system of educating the Indian is brought out.

There are no Cave Man activities. In "Laughing Boy," La Farge draws the emotions, the tenderness, the decencies of Indian marriage.

Miss Muriel Scherruble, coloratura soprano, made her debut to the radio audience Tuesday evening, January 14, over station K. L. X. She will be heard on the regular Tuesday night program between the hours of 9 and 10 in conjunction with the Parmelee recital. Miss Scherruble is a member of the Dec. '31 class.

HERE and THERE

During the last week of February, Mr. Gist is to attend a convention of the N. E. A. at Atlantic City, New Jersey. He will lecture enroute at South Bend, Indiana.

On the third of February, he will go to Grass Valley for the County Teachers' Institute.

Although the contract time for the new training school will be up on February 12, the building will not be occupied immediately. New furniture is to be installed throughout the whole institution.

Elaborate plans are being made for the dedication program, which is to be held during the college's commencement week.

A new system is being tried out in the training school this semester. There are no more special teachers.

The special classes are still in vogue, but the regular teacher is the instructor. This does away with the pupil's having to make so many changes in his environment every day in order to meet the requirements of so many different teachers.

The four year schedule caused a shortage of practice teachers; hence the new system.

College women who wish to sew during free periods are free to use the sewing room and the machines therein, due to the generosity of Miss Spelman.

According to Miss Spelman, the woman must bring her own equipment such as material and thread, but she is free to make use of the sewing machines and the fashion magazines, of which there are always the latest editions.

Due to the fact that A and B student teachers are doing their own art and music teaching this year, there is a common lunch hour for all of the grammar school. Mrs. Smith explains that this is the reason why some of the college students have found the children in their lunch room at noon. Because there is such a large group of children, the high grammar students are seated in the college cafeteria. The lunch hour for the grammar grades is from 11:30 to 12:15. Shortly after this, the teachers' room is cleared for the college students themselves.

Muriel Scherruble of the class of December '31 made her radio debut Tuesday night, January 14, in a program over station K. L. X. in Oakland.

Six soprano solos were sung by Miss Scherruble. Among the numbers were: "The Morning Wind," "Like a Rosebud," and "Spirit of Love Divine."

Another series of concerts by the Voice Class has been promised for the end of the term. Mrs. McCauley, instructor of this class, states that the work of the students has been so satisfactory that a splendid concert is anticipated.

Concerts were given by this group during the final week of last semester. At the end of this term, the members of the class will have had four months more of advanced work.

Esther Blumberg, a member of the Class of May '32, was installed as Worthy Mother of the Berkeley Chapter of the Order of Jeanne d'Arc, Friday night, January 10.

Miss Blumberg has been active in the work of the order for the past three years. She will hold this office, the highest in the organization, until August.

Other members of the college present at the installation were: Elizabeth Moller, Mildred Scott, and Sadelle Blumberg.

College Theatre Installs Officers

Installation of new officers and plans for the present semester were the two events of the meeting held by the College Theatre, Monday afternoon, January 13.

The new officers, Eunice Humphries, president; Lena Watt, vice-president; Amy Taubman, secretary; and Bertha Binter, treasurer were all sworn in before an enthusiastic audience. In spite of the dust, someone made an impromptu balcony seat in the library in order to witness the ceremony with an unobstructed view.

After the new officers were installed, it was decided to give two plays this semester, one the last Friday in February, the other the first Friday in April. The plays have not been selected yet, but it is probable they will be chosen from these three: "Queen's Husband" by Sherwood, "Lilies of the Field" by Turner, "Mrs. Partridge Presents" by Kennedy and Hawthorne.

The College Theatre is also planning to take part in a Shakespearean Festival which is given every spring by the State Drama Teachers of California.

Bookaneers Club See Far Shores

Once more the Bookaneers have set out on their journey through the Land of Books.

This term plans are being made to cruise the foreign ports of Russia, France, Germany, and the Scandinavian countries. Such men as De Maupassant, Chekov, Gorky, France, and Ibanez will be visited.

The officers are Hazel Westphal, president; Mrs. Hacke, vice-president; Sydne Dunn, treasurer; Jacquelyn Beedle, secretary.

"Believe It Or Not" Says Nosy Reporter

"Believe it or not," wailed the enquiring reporter to the editor, "But none of the faculty has anything to say."

"Nothing?" queried the editor in despair.

"Well, Mr. Ray says that he has nothing to say, but he is busy on blue prints of how the campus will look this summer when the new training school is to be put into use."

"Yeh? And who else?"

"Uh-Mr. Mundt—he's the chairman of the Publicity Committee, you know—is busy rounding up the data for the 1930-31 catalogue. He expects the copy all to be in within eight or ten days. He thinks the catalogue will appear sometime in March."

"Well, well. Anything else?"

"Oh, yes. Mr. Boulware says that the business staff of the Franciscan is right on the job, and that they have had several meetings since the opening of the new quarter. And—well—Mr. Boulware is working on the classes of the extension division, too. He said that there will be some news for the next issue."

"Continue."

"Oh, gosh! I almost forgot! The most exciting thing happened. Miss Moe got married. She is now Mrs. Lund."

"Is there anything more?"

"No, I guess not. I've written one or two articles. Here they are."

The editor sat before her typewriter with these facts in hand and mumbled as she pounded away, "Believe it or not, there is no news."

A bad case of influenza has kept Mrs. Marples away from college so far this semester. According to reports, she is now on the road to recovery.

International Club Starts Term Work

International interests will be studied at S. T. C. this year by the International Club, led by Christine Huttman, as president; Jerry Arsanis, as secretary-treasurer; and Elizabeth Best, as corresponding secretary.

At the first meeting of the present semester, Tuesday, January 14, there were proposed many suggestions for making the club more active. As an incentive to attendance, the group plan to hold meetings twice a month in the evening. The day of the week will probably be Wednesday. The members plan to have a dinner first and a business meeting afterwards.

With Melicio Vera as the chairman, a committee has been formed to complete the constitution of the club. This work was begun last year at the time of the organization's first assembly.

To start the year off "in a big way," the students in the group are to conduct a tour through San Francisco's Chinatown, soon.

Fraternity Plans Semester's Work

The annual convention of Delta Phi Upsilon is to be held in San Francisco this spring. In lieu of this fact, the fraternity chapter at S. T. C. has begun many plans for raising money to finance the group during the time it will be hostess to the various visiting chapters.

At the meeting held Monday at 12:30 in the Kindergarten building, suggestions were made for teas, luncheons, and bridge parties. The half hour at noon Mondays will be the regular time for the group to meet; also one night meeting on the first Monday of every month at the various girls' homes.

Girls who are training for the Kindergarten Primary with A or B scholarship are eligible to join the fraternity.

This term the officers are as follows: president, Emeline Purdie; vice-president, Alberta Riemen; recording secretary and historian, Mildred Isaacson; corresponding secretary, Florence Humphries; courtesy secretary, Yuriko Hata; marshal, Laura David.

Siena Open House Honors Freshmen

Nearly seventy-five new S. T. C. students were the guests of the Siena Club at its semi-annual open house, Tuesday afternoon, January 14, at the club rooms, 350 Buchanan street.

The lower floor of the house was decorated in shades of yellow. In the dining room daffodils, China lilies, marigolds, straw flowers and greens were placed everywhere, and yellow candles were burning, lending a soft glow to the atmosphere. During the afternoon approximately 200 guests were entertained by the Siena Club members.

Good Committee

A staff, headed by Niceta McGlynn, planned the day, which was acclaimed a success by all. Her assistants were Elena Foppiano, Ann McHugh, and Margaret Lemon. Madeline McGinnis furnished music for dancing and accompanied Amy Taubman, violin soloist.

A special feature of the program was furnished by a children's chorus from St. Ann's School. These children, who were between eight and twelve years of age, sang "Danny Boy," "Sweet and Low," and "California Lullaby."

Welcoming the new students, friends, and fellow members were the club officers: Claudine Heflin, president; Aileen McKinley, vice-president; Edythe Band, secretary; and Claire Howard, treasurer.

Miss Caseboldt Meets "Gladys"

The other evening, after a very tedious day, Miss Caseboldt dropped into the Berkeley Library to spend a few peaceful minutes.

She was no sooner inside the door than she caught sight of a very familiar looking back.

"Oh," thought Miss Caseboldt, "there is Gladys King. I have not seen her since she was president of our College Theatre. Well, I'll just sneak up and surprise her."

Very quietly, she tip-toed her way up behind Gladys. But—it was not Gladys, as Miss Caseboldt found out when a very astonished and not a very gracious stranger glared up at her in response to the healthily slap Miss Caseboldt delivered.

Scribes' Club Plan For Term's Work

A comfortable air of informality characterized the gathering at which the new members of the Scribes Club met the newly elected officers and old members of the group at the first meeting held Tuesday at 12:00 o'clock, in the office of their advisor, Miss Tolbert.

The Scribes have planned a heavy program for the spring semester. A dinner is to be held down town at Wilson's, Friday, January 24, for the installation of the new officers. This dinner was to have been given before the end of last semester, but because of illness of Miss Tolbert and the president of the club, Miss Griffiths, it was postponed until this month. There is a tradition that each member must contribute an original article, poem, or story to be read by Miss Tolbert during the course of the dinner and that authorship to be guessed by the guests and members. This tradition will provide one of the main features of the evening's entertainment.

Ciwa Griffiths is chairman of the committees; Helen Jorgensen and Elizabeth Best are in charge of the entertainment; Madeline Wilbur will select the decorations.

At the dinner the officers to be installed are: president, Helen Jorgensen; vice-president, Elizabeth Fiske; secretary-treasurer, Anne Shaw.

Faculty Member Elected By C.T.A.

At the annual meeting of the music section of the California Teachers' Association in December, Mrs. McCauley, of the music department of S. T. C., was elected president.

The election was held at a luncheon in Hotel Oakland. Next year the meeting will be held here. Mrs. McCauley will have charge of the program.

Dr. Roberts attended a convention where the main topic of discourse concerned the visiting teacher. This type of teacher is not used in the west, but is used in the east with great success. New York was the first to adopt the visiting teacher plan.

Another alumnae of this college, Helen Nicholson, a degree student of December '28, has recently been married, according to word received by one of the faculty members.

While here, Miss Nicholson donated to the college a newspaper that carried the news of Lincoln's assassination. The whole story of the tragedy was carried. Helen was a reporter on the Bay Leaf, and won promotion to an associate editorship.

Phi Lambda Chi Arranges Parties

Dances, teas, and bridges are on the Phi Lambda Club's program for this semester.

The club is working with its alumni for a bridge that is to be given at the club house, 1927 Washington street, the night of February 7. Tickets may be obtained from the members at 50 cents each.

The first dance will be a sport dance. It will be held February 14. Besides the customary formal tea that is given each semester, there will be several informal ones.

At a recent meeting it was decided to fine members five cents for each unexcused absence. There are two regular meetings each month: one is to be held in the "Y" room here at school during the afternoon of the third Wednesday in each month, the other is to be held at night in the house on Washington street the first Wednesday of each month.

The officers in the club are: Myrtle Sane, president; Alice Rich, vice-president; Frances Miser, secretary; Sara Gregory, treasurer; Helen Langren, social chairman, and Roberta Keily, membership chairman.

Nyoda Club Opens New Term's Work

Nyoda Club resumed the term's work last Tuesday at its first meeting of the spring semester. Over fifty members attended. This is one of the largest organizations for social work in college. A reception for the new members within the next few weeks is the only definite plans made by the President, Alice Gratiot and a committee.

However, with such a large group with which to work, Dean Ward, the club's advisor, hopes for a term full of activities.

The new officers of Nyoda are: president, Alice Gratiot; vice-president, Allie May Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Florence Humphreys.

Committees appointed: Correspondence, by Miss Connolly; social affairs, Allie May Johnson; publicity, Edythe Cussick.

Meetings are held at four o'clock every Tuesday.

Art Club Plans New Semester Program

Trips to exhibits, craft work, parties, and other novel events compose the plans for the Art Club's activities for this semester.

At a meeting held Thursday, January 16, in the Activities Room the members discussed future plans. Refreshments were served and new members were welcomed.

The club's officers for this term are: Alberta Rieman, President; Rhea Brisbois, Vice-President; Bea Rolf, Secretary; and Mildred Isaacson, Treasurer.

were covered by large lanterns. The long tapers held by the officers of the college were carried to the center of the speaker's table where they received light from a candle held by Catherine O'Sullivan. As each officer lit her candle, she gave a ceremonial speech.

The new class presidents were given their pins of office by the retiring officers.

This Candle Light Dinner was the second one to be given by the student body. The first dinner was held last year with Velma Schultz presiding.

Busy Term Planned By College Glee Club

Spanish seniors and senioritas, castanets, and other Spanish what-nots seem to be liberally sprinkled through the Glee Club's plans for this semester.

A Spanish operetta will be presented by the club on the evenings of April 25 and 26 in the theatre of the Western Women's Club. Another event being planned for this semester is a dinner carrying out the Spanish atmosphere. The Spanish Consul will be guest of honor. The dinner will be open to the student body just as the Chinese dinner was enjoyed by at least 122 members of the college last semester. Mr. James Lee, Chinese Acting-Consul, was the guest of honor.

Some time during the semester, the members of the Glee Club will probably give a program over radio station K. P. O. The managers of the station have asked the club to broadcast again, because of the success of its performance last term.

An informal party for new members of the club will be held in the Activities Room, Wednesday, January 22. Many plans are underway for this affair.

The first meeting, presided over by the newly elected president, Dorothy Asher, was held Wednesday, January 15. New members were accepted, and plans for the semester were discussed. The other new officers are: Ruth Brazil, vice-president; Lillian Tyrrell, secretary, and Elizabeth Moller, treasurer. Miss Levy is sponsor of the Glee Club.

Cooperation Asked By Library Staff

Again, a plea to regard library regulations, particularly those dealing with the restrictions, has been sent out by Miss Fleming, librarian.

Signs posted and directions given have been duly disregarded in the rush of the first few days. Posters call attention to the fact that all brief cases must be left "outside." This does not mean in the vestibule. Talking in the vestibule is also under a ban, it can be heard in the library when the doors swing open.

Miss Fleming urges that student discipline be adopted by the college. "Student control of discipline has always been a rule at U. C., and it works very well," states Miss Fleming.

Some of the regulations that are being carried out by the library are:

All books and magazines must be inspected before leaving the library. Student co-operation in having books ready would greatly diminish congestion at the end of each hour.

Reserved books (only 2 to each student) will be issued at four o'clock and are due at nine o'clock the next school morning. At 9:10 A. M. reserved books become overdue and are subject to a fine of 25 cents for the first hour, and 5 cents for each succeeding hour up to 5:00 P. M. Books not on reserve are subject to a fine of 5 cents per day.

"Another distressing fact," says Miss Fleming, "is that students do not help one another, and, incidentally, the library staff, by returning books to their proper places when they have finished using them. From fifty to a hundred books are found on tables every night. This is not so serious except in the case of reserved books. Often there are repeated and desperate calls at the desk for some book which an unthinking student has left lying on a table."

The photographs in this year's Annual are better than those of any other year according to Gola Sanders, photograph editor.

Many Sign Up For W.A.A. Activities

With volleyball, tennis, swimming, and baseball "sign-ups" proving quite numerous, the W. A. A. has started out upon a term which promises to be as successful as the previous ones.

The officers for this semester are: president, Marian Donaldson; vice-president, Lena Watt; secretary, Mildred Smith; assistant secretary, Helen Vida; treasurer, Pauline McDonald; yell leader, Leah Boehm; and health manager, Bertha Binter. These officers and the sports managers form the W. A. A. executive board. The sports managers are: Volleyball, Tessie Vierra; tennis, Gladys Benerd; swimming, Margot Aase; baseball, Margaret Mareck.

Volleyball started Wednesday, January 15. Participants must have a minimum of fifteen practices in order to get their fifty W. A. A. activity points for the sport. Volleyball practice will be held from 4:00 until 5:00 on every afternoon except Thursday.

Swimming promises to be a popular sport this semester. Fifty points will be received by participants who have completed twenty swimming practices. Practice will be held in the "Y" pool at 4:45, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Individual competition will be required of an entrant who wishes to get the fifty points given for tennis. The class winners of the competition will be awarded silver cups.

W.A.A. Welcome All New Members

Good, eats and clever stunts will be featured at the W. A. A. picnic supper to be given in honor of the new freshmen members, tonight, January 20, at 5 o'clock in the gym.

The members of each "table" are responsible for their own decorations. The cost of these decorations can not exceed twenty cents. A prize will be awarded to the table having the cleverest and most original decoration scheme. The members of each table are also responsible for an impromptu stunt.

Leah Boehm is in charge of the affair, and all the members of the executive board are assisting her.

Lost and Found Begin Term Work

The Lost and Found Committee is now being organized for this semester's work.

Rita Bacigalupi is chairman again this semester. Harry Rogie is assistant. The other members of the committee have not been appointed as yet.

The work of the committee started to function as soon as the term began. Each day during the semester there will be a committee member in Room 36 to take charge of both lost and found articles.

College Swimmers Hold Meet With 'Y'

Many cheers and laughs were heard from the onlookers at the "Splash Day" held at the end of last semester at the Y. W. C. A. pool. Representatives from the S. T. C. swimming classes and those of "Y" participated in the meet.

There was no competition between the two teams. Members from S. T. C. and the "Y" were divided into three groups, Flounders, Goldfish, and Minnows. All the competition was between these three groups.

A walking race in the shallow water was the first event. The minnows proved to be the speediest water-walkers. The balloon race, which aroused a great deal of laughter from the side lines, was the next event. Two girls from each group swam the length of the tank, blew up a balloon until it burst, and then swam back. "Dot" Bartels of the flounders was the victor. Three members from each group participated in a crew race which ended in a tie. The clothes line race, which followed, proved to be the most amusing feature of the meet. Representatives from each group donned a middy or a pair of gym bloomers, swam to an improvised clothesline, secured their extra articles of apparel on the line, and swam back. The Flounders won this event. Tilting was the next event. Rachel Smith and "Dot" Bartels were the victors.

After the races the "Y" team and the S. T. C. team put on some stunts. Some women from S. T. C. formed a large T. C. in the water. Their other stunt was called "The Evolution of the Bathing Suit." It is still a mystery to many people how one of the women, arrayed in a very antiquated style of bathing suit managed to swim the length of the tank. The first stunt by the "Y" team was the "Human Raft." Six women were pulled the length of the tank and back again by one person. Their next stunt was "The Rescue." It concerned the plight of a non-swimming young man who tried to rescue his lady love from a watery grave.

After the stunts and races were completed, everyone joined in a water volleyball game with Miss Holtz as the referee. When the game was completed, the coach of the team announced the final score of the meet. The following is a list of the final scores: Flounders 30, Goldfish 7, and Minnows 8.

"There still remain a few short skirts in Southern California," was the comment offered by Mr. Mundt, of the Physical Science Department, after a week's sojourn in the "sunny south" during the Christmas holidays.

Previous to the short vacation, Mr. Mundt was concerned with research work at the Lick Observatory on Mt. Hamilton. In his observations he said that he saw the planet Jupiter more clearly than he had ever seen it before.

Book Store Gives 5 Per Cent Rebate

A five per cent rebate on all purchases is to be given by the Book Store this semester.

Cash register receipts stating the amount paid will be given with each purchase. At the close of the term these slips can be cashed in at the Book Store for five per cent of their face value.

The fact that this system should be used in the Book Store was decided upon by the college Student Body government last semester. Mr. Marples states that because of this new system all exchanges and refunds must be accompanied by the cash register receipts.

Freak Pet Stirs Up Grammar Students

The children sat stunned; the practice teacher sat stunned; the faculty advisor stood at the door—stunned, and Gladys gurgled with glee as she buried her fist into the back of what appeared at first to be a half-grown cat. When no one moved, Gladys laughed out loud. The spell was broken.

"What is it?" "Where did it come from?" "Who gave it to you?" "Why did you bring it here?" "How did it lose part of its tail?" But the excited questions flung at the little high grammar girl disturbed her not a bit. She calmly waited until the hub-bub had subsided, then proceeded to tell all about her "pet."

"This is an ant-bear from South America. We come from there, you know. My Daddy brought it to me. We got it when it was little, and we've raised it from the bottle." She stroked its long nose as she spoke. "I'm not afraid of it, because it is very tame." And her ant-eater looked at her fondly as if to prove that that was so.

This peculiar animal is almost as large as a full-grown cat, and has a long nose and a long tail. It is rumored that, with a small amount of inveigling, Gladys will again bring her "pet" to school.

The bulletin board is in a flutter! Whenever any one passes the post-boxes, the many papers pinned, tacked, or stuck on the bulletin board flutter wildly; whenever the door from the cold, outside world is opened, they flutter shiveringly; whenever a ruthless student pierces a new victim mercilessly, they flutter sympathetically.

And the papers of the bulletin board are not insignificant enough to be ignored. They are as numerous as the small space and the ingenious student will allow. Not only in the matter of number, but in regard to information do they loom important to the student body of S. T. C.

Notices that say: "For Sale: Goode's Atlas $2.75. P. B. —" "Wanted: Collegiate Dictionary P. B. —" "Meredith's Hygienes for Sale # —" are read with searching earnestness. Slips bearing "Lost: One umbrella and two gloves;" "Found: Black fountain pen" are read with interest. Information that "W. A. A. meets Thursday at 4:00;" "Scribes' Club meets Tuesday at 12:00 in Miss Talbert's office" are read with passing attentiveness. But formal notifications from the office—"All changes of program must be made by —" are read with serious attention by each student enrolled.

The bulletin board will probably continue to present a patchwork appearance and flutter with importance until buying and selling texts has joined the past arts of this semester.

PEG O' MY HEART IS COMING

Russian Composer Comes To T. C.

"Modern Music" is to be the topic of the forthcoming assembly, Tuesday, January 28, at ten o'clock in Room L, when Imre Weisshaus, young pianist and composer, will be presented to the associated student body. Mr. Weisshaus' topic of the present-day compositions will be illustrated with selections on the piano. This program has been arranged through the courtesy of his friend, Dr. Rypins.

At the age of twenty-four years, this young artist has acquired a reputation as a gifted musician of the most modern school. He has scored many successes in his concerts performed in the great capitols of Europe and America. His accomplishments have brought him an opportunity to tour Russia—to play in some of the famed musical cities of the world.

The lecture-recital to be given soon by the youthful musician promises to offer the college men and women a delightful tour of first hand impression of a rare example of the modern music in tone and in words.

Children's Library Rules Made Public

Frederic Burk School library is open daily, except Saturday and Sunday from 8:30 to 3:30 for the benefit of primary and grammar grades. The college students, the library bulletin published by Miss Henze, the training school librarian, for January 1930.

On Fridays after school a story hour is held: at 1:30 for the low primary grades and at two o'clock for the high primaries and grammar grades. Students interested are invited by the library staff to visit.

"College students are asked to use the college library for their personal copies of texts and other material whenever possible. A number of juvenile books are duplicated in this library for that purpose. The resources of the children's library are available, however, to students at all times," Miss Henze stated.

Among the other rules governing the children's library are the following: 1. Each room has a schedule of periods to obtain books. 2. Student Teachers are responsible for the books charged to their pupils. 3. Text books are not to be taken home without permission. 4. Length of time to keep texts and other books is limited, and 5. There is a five minute period inspection of desks for overdue, misspelled, and no-longer-needed books each week.

Faculty Member Goes To Stockton

Miss Casebolt drove Ruth Overfield and Dorothy Asher to Stockton on Saturday, January 11, where they entertained.

The girls gave a discussion on puppetry before an audience composed of drama directors, teachers, college, high school and grammar grade students. Besides giving the history and explanation of the dolls, Dorothy and Ruth gave three puppet shows.

After their performance, the women were entertained at a delightful luncheon and then were taken on an interesting tour through the Little Theatre of that college. There many fine examples of expressionistic scenery on a space stage were seen. Preparations were being made for the presentation of Galsworthy's "Escape." According to Miss Casebolt, the College of the Pacific is making great strides forward in the world of drama.

Student - Teachers Work At Peralta

The practice teaching experiment tried out in the Peralta School in Oakland was so much of a success last semester that it is to be continued.

The students who teach in this Oakland public school have all the responsibilities of full fledged teachers. It is considered an honor to be chosen for this work. All the applicants are interviewed by a committee composed of Dean Du Four, Dean Ward, Mr. Gist, and Miss Carter. It is like trying to get a position as a graduate teacher. The students are questioned and studied by the interviewers. Then, from among the group, twenty-two are chosen for their initiative, poise, ability, and their general character.

This semester the fortunate ones are Alice Gratiot, Rhea Brisbois, Helen Langren, May Conway, Janis Miller, Evelyn Davenport, Roberta Keily, Alice Rich, Marion Levy, Barbara Ann Burr, Alie May Johnson, Charlotte Poyner, Margaret Foster, Evelyn Ganzhuber, Marion Hare, Sadie Lopesco, Janice Galbreath, Hortense Willson, Kathleen O'Farrell, Mrs. Edna D. Walthall, Ethel Riley, and Vivian Walsh.
